New Webinar Available this Friday!

A new webinar is available through CropLife America's 2021 Webinar Series! Please see below for more information about this session.

Date: Friday, February 12, 12:00pm – 1:30pm ET

“Background on HDPE, PFAS, and Pesticide Packaging”

Join RISE and CropLife America as they share background information on high-density polyethylene (HDPE) plastics, per- and polyfluoroalkyl (PFAS) substances, and pesticide packaging.

Megan Provost, president of RISE, will moderate the session and will be joined by:

- Robert Simon, Vice President, Chemical Products & Technology Divisions at the American Chemistry Council
- Ed Messina, Acting Director of the Office of Pesticide Programs at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
- Lynn Bergeson, Managing Partner at Bergeson & Campbell, PC
- Karen Reardon, Vice President of Public Affairs at RISE

The panelists will share some background information on HDPE and PFAS, review the timeline around EPA's announcement on PFAS in pesticide packaging, and highlight some federal and state legislative activities around these issues. Join us to gain a general understanding of these technologies and EPA's activities.

Please forward this message to any colleagues you think would benefit from this webinar.
